A LOOK AT TODAY’S PARISH

Supporting the Parish Financially

All of us know how much it costs to run a house along with day to day family expenses and those unexpected things that break or are in need of repair. Parishes face even higher costs and depend upon every parishioner to help meet them. Looking back, many of our parishioners have risen to the occasion to keep St. Florian in good shape throughout the 100-plus years of its existence. We can go back just a few years ago on how well we responded to the carillon system we hear throughout the day as well as the restoration of the pipe organ. And as we approached the parish’s 100th anniversary we were able to restore all of our stained glass windows in church as well as replace the original heating pipes and church roof.

The building and grounds committee has done an excellent job at keeping costs down significantly through their time, work, and expertise. The church courtyard/playlot was a concerted effort of school parents, teachers, and building committee members, along with a grant from Big Shoulders. We also received support from the Alderman’s office to make that reality an enjoyable one for our preschool and kindergarten children as well as for parish groups using the space for summer picnics. These and many other projects have been accomplished because of the generosity of time, talent, and treasure of so many of our parishioners throughout the years.

In one way or another all of us benefit from these much needed projects. That’s why your continual and consistent financial support cannot be taken for granted. It provides the basis to take care of all the bills that need to be paid. It helps our parish grounds and buildings to be kept up by the maintenance man, cleaning people and other maintenance services we depend on.

That is why it is important for all of us to take a serious look at the money we give to the parish each week. Do we regularly increase our contributions each year? Giving to the Church is more than just a financial obligation. Once we recognize that everything we have is a gift from God, we can see that giving generously to continue God’s work in the parish is an essential part of our spirituality and Catholic presence in Hegewisch. To ensure our future depends upon what God has graciously bestowed on us and on our willingness to share it for the common good of our parish.

Fr. Jim

Next Weekend: Pray for your parish.

Blessings

In our Catholic tradition, we recognize the power of blessings. The introduction to the Book of Blessings reminds us that the “source from whom every good gift comes is God, who is above all, blessed for ever. He who is all good has made all things good, so that he might fill his creatures with blessings and even after the Fall he has continued his blessing as a sign of his merciful love” (BB,1). To bless God is actually to praise God, to give him thanks. To bless God is to recognize the many good and wonderful ways that God has acted in our lives. God’s powerful and saving presence is the basis of all of the praise and thanks we offer him.

When the Church celebrates a blessing we recognize that God is the source of all good things. We ask that God’s goodness continue in a specific situation. When the Church blesses objects, we ask that God make his presence and action known through our use of those objects. Finally, when the Church blesses people, we recognize God’s goodness in them as his son or daughter, and we ask God to continue to guide them, to be present to them.

In all of these rites, the Church acknowledges God’s great care for his people and the world. In acknowledging God’s saving presence and action, we are moved to praise him for all the good he has done, and we ask that his goodness continue in our lives.

The Catechumenate

When a person has decided to join the Catholic Church, he or she begins the Catechumenate. This begins with the Rite of Acceptance into the Order of Catechumens, which is often combined with a Rite of Welcoming for Candidates when there is a mixed group of the unbaptized and the already baptized.

This rite occurs at a Sunday Parish Liturgy. The catechumens proclaim their readiness to accept the Gospel, and candidates declare their intent to be received into full communion with the Catholic Church. The catechumens and candidates are signed with the sign of the cross as a sign of their readiness to bear witness to Christ with their whole lives. A bible or cross may be given. The period of the Catechumenate can last for months or even years. Catechumens are “brought to maturity” in the faith during this period through formal study of Church teaching, by a deeper commitment to living the Christian life, prayer, and by witness of their faith in the world. Catechumens are considered part of the church. If a catechumen dies, he or she is buried with Catholic Rites.

Catechumens are being formed to be members of the Body of Christ, and it is the responsibility of the entire parish, not just a few people, to participate in this formation through witness, support, and prayer.
